KIRKLAND, Wash., Dec. 19 /PRNewswire/ -- Before adjourning on the 9th, Congress passed the Tax Relief and Health Care Act (H.R. 6111), which expands the sources and amounts that may be contributed to Health Savings Accounts (HSA's). This is good news for those seeking long term care protection but unsure how to finance it, according to LTC Financial Partners, the nation's most experienced long term care insurance brokerage.

contributions for lower-paid workers.

"What this means," says Cameron Truesdell, CEO of LTC Financial Partners, "is that millions of Americans will have a painless way to protect their wellbeing, lifestyles, and assets in case they encounter longer-lasting health problems."

Those without an HSA may set one up through a bank, credit union, insurance company, or other approved organization. Employers may also set up plans for their employees.
