Trans Marine Propulsion Systems Inc., is opening a sales and service facility in Tampa in April.

The new facility, on West Creshaw near Tampa International Airport, will operate as a subsidiary called Trans Marine Tampa and will employ five people at first.

Seattle-based Trans Marine had been servicing more and more vessels in the Gulf area recently and the Tampa facility will shorten the service time needed, the company said in a release. Service will be available 24 hours a day, seven days a week at the Tampa facility.

Trans Marine services most makes and types of diesel engines, including medium-speed and slow-speed engines for the marine industry and for diesel power plants.
